WONDERFUL INSECT.

Romance of the White Ant Which, Though Blind, Accomplishes Wonderful Things.
One portion of Prof. Drummond's recent book, "Tropical Africa," reads like a fairy tale. It is the wonderful romance of the white ant. It is a small insect, with a bloated, yellowishwhite body and a somewhat large thorax, ax, oblong-shaped, and colored a disagreeable olive brown. The termite lives almost exclusively upon wood, and the moment a tree is cut or a log sawn for any economical purpose, this insect is upon its track. One may never see the insect, possibly, in the flesh, for it lives under ground; but its ravages confront one at every turn.

The white ant is blind; it has many enemies, and can never procure food until it comes above ground. How does it solve the difficulty? It takes the ground out along with it. I have seen white ants working on the top of a high tree, and yet they were under ground. They took up some of the ground with them to the tree-top, just as the Esquimaux heap up snow, building it into the low tunnel huts in which they live; so the white ants collect earth, only in this case not from the surface, but from some depth underneath the ground into tunnelled ways.
Occasionally these run along the ground, but more often mount in long and slender ramifications to the tops of trees, meandering along each branch and twig, and here and there debouching into large covered channels, which occupy half the girth of the trunk.
Millions of these in some districts are thus fastidiously produced over with tubes, galleries and chambers of earth, and many pounds' weight of soil must be brought up for the mining of even a single tree.

Peering over the growing wall one soon discovers one, two or more termites of a somewhat larger build, considerably longer and with a very different arrangement of the part of the head, and especially of the mandibles.
These important-looking individuals saunter about the rampart in the most leisurely way, but yet with a certain air of business, as if, perhaps, the one was the master of works and the other the architect.
They are posted there as sentries, and there they stand or promenade along at the mouth of every tunnel, like Sister Ann, too, if any body coming. Sometimes somebody does come in the shape of another ant—the real ant this time, not the defenseless Neuropteron, but some valiant and belated knight from the warlike Formidable. Singly or in troops, this rapacious little insect, fearless in its chitinous coat of mail, charges down the tree trunk, its antennae waving defiance to the enemy and its cruel mandibles thrusting for termite blood.

The worker white ant is a poor, defenseless creature, and blind and unarmed, would fall an immediate prey to these well-drilled banditti, who forage about in every tropical forest in unnumbered legions. But at the critical moment, like Goliath from the Philistines, the soldier termites advance to the fight. With a few sweeps of his eye-like jaws it clears the ground, and while the attacking party is carrying off its dead the builders, unconscious of the fray, quietly continue their work. To every hundred workers in a white-ant colony, which numbers many thousands of individuals, there are only two of these fighting men. The division of labor here is very wonderful, and the fact that besides these two specialized forms there are in every nest two other kinds of the same insect, the kings and queens, show the remarkable height to which civilization in these communities has attained.

The great ant mounds are built in a mesh work of tunnels, galleries and chambers, where the social interests of the community are attended to. The most spacious of these chambers, usually far underground, is very properly allotted to the head of the society, the queen. The queen termite is a very rare insect, and as there are scarcely more than one, or at most two, to a colony, and as the royal apartments are hidden far in the earth, few persons have ever seen a queen, and indeed most, if they did happen to come across it, from its singular appearance, would refuse to believe that it had any connection with white ants.
Her one duty in life is to lay eggs, and it must be confessed she discharges her function with complete success, for in a single day her progeny often amounts to many thousands. —Baltimore American.

TRAINING FOR TO-DAY.

How to Develop the Minds of Children in a Rational Manner.
Major-General F., whose son was a child during the civil war, found on his return home that the boy had been trained by his mother according to the highest code of military ethics. The little fellow usually wore the uniform of a Lieutenant. But when he was greedy, or unruly, or rude to a servant, his uniform was taken off and he was forced to go back to the clothes of a civilian boy.

"You are not fit to go into the service of your country," he was told.
The wise mother skillfully used the military fervor which glowed in the atmosphere about the child to elevate and help him. The father of Montaigne began, when his child was an infant, to search for and train the servants, nurses and tutors who were to have charge of him.

"It is from the people who surround him, his boot-black, his tailor, the beggars at his gates, that a lad learns lessons of life rather than from books," he said.
It is a question if parents and teachers could enough use of this unconscious education of passing events.
How many of them, for instance, have improved the excitement of the presidential contest to make their pupils familiar with the machinery of republican government, or with the great question at issue in the election? The artful, for example, studied from a textbook, is but dry chaff for a child's mind; but when it influences the election to office of a man whom he knows, or the running of mills at the end of

THE FREIGHT CONDUCTOR.

A Few of His Numerous Duties and Unavoidable Perplexities.

The freight conductor is simply a high grade of bookkeeper. His work is almost wholly supervisory and clerical, and so, after several years' service, he becomes more sober and business-like in his bearing, the responsibilities of his position being sufficient to effect this change; but he generally retains his sympathies with his old associates who have become subordinates. His duties are to keep the record of the train, the time, numbers of cars, etc.; to see that the brakemen regulate the speed when necessary, and to keep a general watch. The calculations necessary to make a seventy-five mile trip and get over the line without wasting time are often considerable, and an inexperienced conductor can easily keep himself in a worry for the whole trip. Often he can not go more than ten miles after making way for a passenger train before another over-takes him; so that he must spend a good share of his time sitting in his rampoose with the time-table in one hand and his watch in the other, calculating where and when to side-track the train. On single-track roads perplexities of this kind are generally more numerous than on double lines, because trains both in front and behind must be guarded against, and because the regulations are frequently modified by telegraphic instructions from headquarters. A mistake in reading these instructions, which are written in pencil, often by a slovenly penman, and on tissue paper, may and occasionally does cause a disastrous collision.
These duties of conductors are especially characteristic of trains that must keep out of the way of passenger trains, so that in his particular line it will be seen that the passenger conductor has much the easier berth. The freight and "work-train" conductor must really be a better calculator, in many ways, than the weaver of gilt badges and buttons, though the latter receives the higher pay.

The deus ex machina of the freight conductor is an investigation at headquarters concerning delinquencies in which the blame is divided. A typical case of this kind is that of a freight train which has stopped at some unusual place and been run into by a following train, doing some hundreds of dollars' damages, if not killing or injuring persons. "Strict adherence to rules will avert all such accidents," the code says; but they do happen, and the inquiry as to whether the conductor used due diligence in sending a man with a red flag to warn the oncoming train, or the engineer of the latter was heedless, or what was the trouble, is the occasion of much anxiety.

Conductors, concerning whose life I have only noted a few of the duties and perplexities, are not so much subject to the vicissitudes of cold and wet weather, and therefore have in many respects better opportunities than the brakemen to avail themselves of the enjoyments of a trimmer's life. The enjoyments of life and limb from coupling cars, etc., is also, somewhat less, though many a faithful conductor has lost his life in the performance of a dangerous duty which he had assumed out of generous consideration for an inexperienced or overworked subordinate. —B. D. Adams, Jr., in Scribner's Magazine.

STORAGE OF APPLES.

FEW POINTS ABOUT KEEPING Fruit During the Winter.
There are but a very few points to the secret of success in keeping apples during the winter. The critical time is not in the winter, but before the cold weather sets in. In the first place, the apples should be picked before they are perfectly ripe—about the time they begin to ripen is the best. Picked at that time, carefully sorted and put in barrels, they can be kept in the orchard under a shed, or covered with boards and straw, until the weather begins to get quite cool. Then they are carefully sorted and removed to a dry, cool cellar, or, as many must do, placed underground in a dry, well-drained location. They are, however, not covered in the pits very deeply at first, considerable straw is used, and they are covered lightly with earth until the ground begins to freeze. A large number placed in a heap will not freeze very easily, but ventilation is always provided through the upper part of the pit.

The cellar should not contain any vegetables. After the perfectly sound apples are removed to the cellar in clean barrels, they should be arranged so as to allow free circulation of air all around the barrels. Now, if the cellar is kept dry and at a temperature just a little above the freezing point, it is all that can be done. To keep the cellar cool enough requires daily attention: during the cool nights and warm days the doors and windows should be kept open all night and closed perfectly tight during the day; you thus bottle up, so to speak, the cool air of one night during the day, to be renewed the next, accomplishing, at the same time, one of the most important objects—a thorough ventilation, which, during the winter, should not be neglected. —Hussey.

—The quantity of sugar used in a Boston house suddenly increased, to the astonishment of the mistress. She began an investigation, which revealed that the servant used sugar to kindly the fire.

SWISS EATING HOUSES.

Excellent Institutions Which Prevalent Fast is the Little Republic.

During my recent vacation I had an opportunity of visiting one of the "Cuisines Populaires" that are coming to be a peculiar feature of some industrial centers in Switzerland. In 1877, while a socialistic congress was in session at Chaux-de-Fonds, near Neuchâtel, one of the speakers said:
"All the arguments in the world will not have as much effect on the working man as a good plate of hot soup." These words were soon on good ground, for a month later the first popular kitchen was opened, and similar institutions are now to be found in other parts of Switzerland.
The one I visited has a capital of 10,000 ($20,000) francs, 7,000 francs of which has been paid in, and the shares are held by very nearly 7,000 persons.
It owns the building it occupies, which, though by no means palatial, is amply sufficient for the purpose. On the ground floor there are two dining-rooms, large enough to accommodate from 600 to 650 persons, a smaller one for women, a sitting-room and an office. The establishment is run on a strictly cash basis, but instead of paying with money customers settle by means of checks, which can be purchased in any quantity, and it is not unusual for workmen to purchase these checks in sufficient quantities to last them a month. Three meals are served in close succession, and as no one is allowed to remain at table, after he has finished his repast the institution is able to feed about 1,500 people daily.
The prices charged are as follows:
Soup, one quart; meat, boiled or roast, one-fifth of a pound if the latter, a trifle more if the former; five cents; wine two cents a glass, three cents per half pint or twelve cents for a quart; a ration of bread, one cent. So you see a person can have a square meal, composed of bread, meat, vegetables and a glass of wine (and I may add that this latter article is of a good quality and sold pure) for twelve cents. The institution not only supplies its customers with meals, but also sells them cooked food to carry away with them.
These cuisines populaires also furnish the public schools of the town with soup gratuitously and with bread at cost prices. The managing committee are supplied with a certain number of checks that they can give away as they please and all food left over at the end of each day is distributed to the poor.
—N. O. Peary.

Farwell Chat Between Two Fair Creatures, One of Whom Missed Her Car.
"Well, Mrs. Jones, good-bye!"
"Good-bye, dear. The car is waiting."
"You'll come and see us?"
"Next week."
"Well, good-bye."
"The car is waiting."
"I know. But have you got that pattern?"
"The one I spoke of?"
"Yes. The car is waiting."
"Yes, I know it, dear."
"Oh, my goodness! (To her friend)
"Well, dear, good-bye!"
"You'll come to see us again?"
"I will, dear."
"There! The car has gone!"
"Never mind, there will be another one along soon."
"That's a lovely hat you've got on, Jennie."
"Do you think so? Well, there's another car gone past!"
"There'll be another one along by and by. How is Mamie?"
"She's getting along fine. Here's another car!"
"Stop it, please! Well, good-bye."
"Good-bye, dear."
"And you'll come and see me?"
"Sure! Have you got a pattern of the skirt?"
"Yes, indeed. Do you want it? Well, I declare, the car has gone!"
"Has that car gone?"
"It has."
"Ain't they awful!"
"Well, you must look out for the next."
"I will, dear."
"Well, good-bye."
"Good-bye, dear. You'll come and see us."
"Sure."
"Here's another car."
"Well, good-bye, then."
"Good-bye."
"Give James my regards."
"Very certainly."
"And bid him grin with you when you come again."
"I will. Here's another car."
"Well, good-bye."
"Well, good-bye. Oh! There. Have you got the pattern of that wrapper you had on the other morning?"
"Why, yes! There, that other car has gone!"
At last, the two ladies were left on the sidewalk bidding good-bye to each other.
(To be continued in our next.) Unless they have succeeded in bidding good-bye to each other.—Boston Courier.

for six months spent her time while riding to work in knitting a costly shawl, forgot the garment, which was almost completed, in the cars the other morning.

DAMAGED!

JEANS PANTS.

"BULL DOG MAKE" FOR
50 CENTS
75c, $1.00 & $1.25.

We have bought from the Bull Dog Jeans Pants makers 50 dozen damaged jeans pants, their accumulation of miscuts, misstitched, soiled or snagged or anything else that would keep them from being sold as perfect in every respect. The wear of the goods is not affected in the least, only the looks, and as jeans pants are not worn for dress but exclusively for service, they are just as good as though they were perfect. This is a rare chance to get a good work pant for a little of nothing. These goods are worth $1.50 to $2.28, including every quality from the heavy wool to the finest Mississippi cassimere jeans and be graded according to soil. Those worst soiled go for only 50c, next 75c, next $1.00 and next $1.25, and not a pair is worth less than $1.75 in perfect goods. The make-up of them is just as strong and they are in every way as durable as any of the Bull Dog make, you can see these goods in our show window and that all may have an equal chance at them, we will begin the sale on Monday, the 28th day of January.

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,500 inhabitants, situated in a county of 80,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county and the people have recently voted aid to new roads. Largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $450,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, line factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and fine opera house. Five turnpikes centering in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the state. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 550, two miles east of the city. A 100,000 court house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Troops. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tannery and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthy.

The wife of Jas. L. Sullivan has joined the Salvation Army.

Wyatt Sticker, aged 25, killed himself at Lexington.

W. W. Alexander, the assessor of Mercer county, is dead.

Mrs. Amanda Sims, of Mercer county, fell dead while out milking Monday night.

Representatives of the United States and Germany are to confer about Samoa.

The Senatorial situation in West Virginia is unchanged, but Kenna seems to be losing ground.

The Hartford Herald says Clark Ferguson was killed last week by "drinking Caneyville whisky."

Sir Julian Pauncefote has been appointed to succeed Lord Sackville West as English Minister to the United States.

Sam Jones is now in Southern California. He conducted a revival in Los Angeles last month and drew immense crowds.

Sam Fletcher, a section hand on the L. & N. R. R., was killed by a passing train Saturday while asleep on a hand car near the track.

Chas. Alexander, a miner at Greenwood, in Pulaski county, Saturday night was assaulted in a saloon at Beaver Creek and shot to death.

A Philadelphia man who has kept the record says the ground hog has correctly foretold the weather 8 years and missed it 7 in the last 15 years.

Two hundred and fifty Italian workmen on the L. St. L. & T. road between Henderson and Owensboro, struck last week on account of a cut in wages.

It is authoritatively announced that President Cleveland will connect himself with a leading law firm of New York City after March 4, and resume the practice of his profession.

C. Schultz Leach, City Treasurer of Maysville, has been missing since last Thursday and his disappearance is a mystery. An examination of his books shows an apparent shortage of $1,200.

Speaking of politics, the second judicial district of Kentucky gave last November a Republican majority of 1,876. In the judicial election of 1886 it gave a Democratic majority of 290.

A former citizen of Christian county has been elected President of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Nashville, Tenn., and the American pays him the following compliment: "The election of Mr. Allen G. Hall gives assurance that the club will not lack for a live and intelligent head. Mr. Hall is one of the most brilliant young Democrats as well as one of the most faithful and energetic in party work in the county."

The rather rigid enforcement of the Sunday ordinance may perhaps put some persons to inconvenience for a time, but as all of the houses are to be closed it will affect all alike and work no special hardship upon any. Some years ago a strong protest was raised when the barber shops were closed on Sunday, but the public soon got used to it and now the barber can go to church on Sunday like any other business man and the Saturday night shave now answers every purpose.

Governor Buckner has appointed the following gentlemen as Honorary Commissioners to represent Kentucky at the centennial celebration of the inauguration of George Washington as the first President of the United States, the celebration to take place in New York City, April 20th and 30th, 1889: Hon. Charles D. Jacob, mayor of Louisville; Maj. Henry C. McDowell, Lexington; Hon. Albert S. Berry, mayor of Newport; Hon. John C. Latham, New York City; Hon. Wilbur F. Browder, Russellville; Col. John H. Ward, Louisville; Gen. T. T. Garrard, Clay county; Hon. John H. Hendrick, Livingston county; Judge William Lindsay, Frankfort; Col. A. W. Hamilton, Montgomery county; Hon. Walter S. Harkins, Floyd county; Hon. Henry D. McHenry, Ohio county.

HOPKINSVILLE'S WATER SUPPLY.

Facts and Figures in Favor of a System of Water Works.

How to provide a larger supply of water for household, sanitary, manufacturing and fire-department purposes, has become a question of great practical importance to Hopkinsville. Even with our present population, the existing supply is plainly inadequate to the demand. It is certainly discreditable to the business judgment and enterprise of the place that during dry seasons water-carts supply not a few families, and manufacturers have to rent water from outside sources. It is estimated that the saving on insurance alone consequent on the construction of water-works would be considerably larger than the interest on the sum required to furnish a perennial supply of water. If the saving within a period of ten years would liquidate the cost of water-works, economy strongly urges their construction at an early date.

With the prospect of greatly improved facilities for manufacturing and the distribution of products, the construction of water-works becomes a pressing necessity, for a water famine is the worst of famines. Statistics gathered from various cities show that the average number of gallons of water used daily, per capita, is as follows: Boston 60; Cincinnati 40; Louisville 24; Newark 20; Chicago 64; Cleveland 32. Dennis Long & Co., iron pipe manufacturers of Louisville, who have supplied water-works for many cities throughout the West, state in their manual on this subject that non-manufacturing towns begin with about 10 gallons per capita, per day, and increase the quantity about two per cent per annum until about thirty gallons per capita per day are reached. In manufacturing towns they begin with 20 gallons per capita per day, and increase to about 50 gallons per day, at the rate of three per cent per annum.

Statistics of Western towns show also that during the past five years there are but few which have not lost enough by fire for want of convenient water under pressure, to build an efficient system of water-works.

The establishment of such a system would be a strong inducement to manufacturers and other persons of capital to locate here and plant large investments, and would enhance the value of improvements generally by increasing their security. The city several years since voted a subscription to build a system of water-works and the contract was taken by an Eastern company which soon afterward failed, and no effort has been made since to revive the work.

Several of our manufacturers have obtained, by wells, a supply which more than meets their own wants. To what extent any of these could be utilized for larger use is worthy of investigation.

A manufacturer who has given much attention to this subject expresses the belief that an abundant supply of water can be secured by damming Little River, at a point near the quarry. The following data are the results of a practical engineer's observation. A dam 8 feet in height, thrown across Little River near the railroad quarry, would give a body of water 5,000 feet long having an average width of 50 feet and a mean depth of 4 feet, a volume of water equal to about 29,000,000 gallons. Numerous springs of excellent water empty into the channel of the river, and continually increase its volume, no doubt in excess of daily consumption. But at the rate of consumption per capita in other places, as given above, 29,000,000 gallons, without increase from springs, rain or snow falls would supply a town of 10,000 population, for six months.

It is well known that water-works pay better, as an investment than most bank stock. The stock is rarely quoted because the owners seldom want to change their investment. In this case watered stock is the best of stock. The fact is so well understood that wise municipalities prefer that these works shall be owned by their own citizens, who draw from this source an important municipal revenue besides supplying water at lower rates than a private company would do.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ROOMS.

Prohibition As She Probes.

Robt. West was arraigned for trial Monday on 2 charges of violating the prohibition law. The defendant compromised on a plea of guilty, paying $250 to the county. The affidavits of three physicians were produced giving the opinion that West could not survive further confinement in jail, as he was in very bad health. He was taken home sick and judgment suspended as to collecting the fine, which he will pay hereafter or lay it out in jail.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damages they will do are ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine, it is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Matilda Tilman was born near Fairview, Ky., October 22, 1814, and died at her home on the Canton road, three miles from Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 12, 1889, at one o'clock P. M. She professed religion in the year 1842 and joined the C. P. Church, at Goshen, where she lived exemplifying a Christian life, faithful to the sick and suffering; she was a good mother and grand-mother. A few hours before her death, she requested her children to meet her in Heaven, asking them to take good care of her three little grand-children whom she loved devotedly. She looked across the dark valley with a trustful resignation while her faith grew stronger that she would not be forsaken in that lonely journey, which brought a calm and peaceful rest. The funeral services were held at Goshen, at one o'clock Sunday by Rev. H. P. Perry. Her remains were followed by a number of relatives and friends to the family burying ground, near that place. She suffered greatly for some months, but bore it with Christian fortitude; she leaves three sons and one daughter, and seven grand-children, to mourn her absence; she is gone to meet her loved ones gone before. A precious one from us has gone, A voice we heard is still-d, A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled, The beam his love has given, And though the body slumbers here, The soul is safe in Heaven. By One Who Loved Her.

CREAM OF NEWS.

Another Big Warehouse.

The old warehouse on the West side of Campbell, between Ninth and Tenth streets, adjoining the Cayce property, which is across the railroad from the passenger depot, is being torn away and the owner of the lot, Mr. Jno. C. Latham, will at once erect a large brick tobacco warehouse upon it, which will when completed be occupied by Messrs. Gant & Gal-ther, the occupants of the building to be replaced. The brick portion of the present building on Ninth street will be remodeled and raised higher and the frame part in the rear will be replaced entirely with a two story brick. The new building will present a front on Ninth street of 195 feet, 30 feet high. The frontage on Campbell will be 165 feet, the building extending from Ninth to Tenth.
It will be two stories and the storage capacity will be 2,000 hogheads.
The office will be on Ninth street and will be one of the best appointed ones in the city. This front will be a very handsome and attractive one. There will be three receiving doors, one on each of the other three sides, an alley way being left on the West side as at present.

Forbes & Bro. have the contract and the building is to be finished in four months.

The Ruling Passion.

A treat to the lovers of melo-drama will be the presentation of the great scenic success, "The Ruling Passion," at the Opera House on Tuesday night, Feb. 12th. The story of the play is that of a good young girl who is duped into marriage by a villain for her money, and who is afterwards placed in a mad-house and shamefully abused. The action of the play is quick and there is sufficient comedy introduced to satisfy the ordinary auditor. The scenery forms quite a part of the performance, a car load being carried by the company, and as the scenery can be adapted to our Opera House stage, we can be assured of a first-class production. This company comes heralded with a big run in the East, having met with success everywhere visited. "The Ruling Passion" was originally produced in London in 1882 and has been playing there ever since, a wonderful record.

Ice Spell at Last.

The first cold wave of any consequence got off in this week and the mercury fell below the freezing point Monday. Tuesday it continued to grow colder and Wednesday morning it was down to 12 degrees. Yesterday it was still 12 degrees at 8 o'clock a. m., and the weather continued cold all day, though the sun shone brightly. The ice on ponds was from 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick yesterday, and though the prospect was good for a better spell, those who had houses began putting up yesterday. The ice if crushed is thick enough to keep, and the fear that there would be no spell has given way to a feeling of gratification that it will not take a week's wages to make ice cream on Sunday next summer.

He Forgot the Telephone.

tie Harris, col., of about $22 worth of jewelry yesterday morning and took the 4:43 train for Nashville, making his way to Birmingham, Ala. The woman, who lived near the Fair Ground, reported her loss to the chief of police who telephoned the Chief J. H. Clark at Nashville and McDaniel was arrested upon his arrival there at 7:25. The jewelry was found in his possession and recovered.
The thief will be returned to this city as soon as requisition papers can be had and his case will be attended to next month.

THIS AND THAT.

The Commercial club met Tuesday night.

Rogers & Davis' livery stable, Fritz's old stand.

Monday was another good day with the merchants.

The Trigg Circuit Court convenes at Cadiz next Monday.

Go to A. G. Bush for boots and shoes and save money.

Rev. Geo. F. Campbell preached at the Methodist church Monday night.

Paper sacks for putting up hams for sale at this office, at from 1 1/4 to 3 cents each.

It is estimated that $1,000 worth of tickets in the Louisiana Lottery are sold in this city every month.

The Asylum Commissioners held their monthly meeting Tuesday and allowed claims aggregating $7,800.

The tools used in building the turnpikes just finished, were sold by the Sheriff Tuesday to the highest bidders.

Luther C. Radford has been transferred from the Frankfort penitentiary to the branch penitentiary at Eddyville.

Rev. V. M. Metcalfe will preach next Sunday morning at Concord church on the Canton road, ten miles from the city.

The order for issuing the O. V. bonds has been made and the bonds will soon be issued and placed in the hands of the trustees.

De. Seargent & Blakey, Young & Gunn, and J. L. Dulin have all had telephones put in their respective offices and residences.

The four new members have canvassed and settled upon a candidate for tax collector. Unless there is a slip of some kind one ballot will do the work.

The lecture room of the First Presbyterian church is to be lighted with gas. The fixtures have already been put up and were tried last Wednesday night.

Hon. H. S. Irwin, of Louisville, will deliver a humorous lecture in this city, on February 18th, subject:
"Wise and Otherwise; or, The Grave and Gay in Society."

Hanbury & Cooper, the insurance agents, have surrendered the company they represented, and have gone to work for the Washington, represented by Dr. W. F. Patton.

A jewelry peddler worked the town this week and made several sales. The local jewelers think the Council ought to protect them from the competition of these retailers who pay no taxes, and their demand is not an unreasonable one.

Mr. A. L. Shotwell, who has been Receiver for the Asylum for ten years, has resigned, to take effect March 1st, and Mr. T. W. Rodman has been appointed to the vacancy.
The appointment was confirmed by the Board of Commissioners Tuesday.

Mose Woodridge, col., was tried before E. Q. Tinsley, Monday, and held over until the Grand Jury meets.
He is charged with theft, in securing old clothing, selling same on commission and failing to turn over any money to the party who furnished the garments for sale.

Luther Benson lectured on prop-hety at the Christian Church Tuesday night to a packed house. Scores of people, many of them ladies, stood up in the aisles for an hour and a half to hear the lecturer discuss his favorite theme. After the speaking was over a collection was taken up and other steps taken for organizing for the coming contest. Mr. Benson lectured the following night at Crofton and last night at Casky.

DEATHS.

An infant child of Peter H. Adcock, died Tuesday night.

Willie Pickard, aged 22 years, died at his father's, near Herndon, Tuesday, of inflammation of the bowels.

Thos. Hunt, aged about 35 years, died near Garrettsburg yesterday, of a rising in his ear. He leaves a wife and one small child.

COLORS.

A little child of Lucien Owen, died Wednesday night.

A Good Citizen Dead.

Marcus L. Young, the well known colored barber, died at his residence on West Ninth street, at 2 o'clock p. m., Feb. 4. He had been sick with rheumatism for several days, but his condition was not regarded serious by his family or friends. His unexpected death removes one of the most respectable and worthy colored citizens of Hopkinsville. He was a man of character and was respected and liked by our best people, who always found him to be square-dealing and reliable in all things. He had lived for a number of years in this city and by uniform politeness and courteous treatment had prospered in his business and become popular with all who knew him. He was well educated and kept up with current events as well as almost any man in town.
He belonged to the Methodist church and was also a member of the Odd Fellows.

His funeral was preached yesterday afternoon at the C. M. E. Church and the remains followed to the grave by a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

He leaves no family excepting a wife, who is a teacher in the Hopkinsville colored public schools.

An Elegant Substitute.

For oils, salts, pills, and all kinds of bitter, nauseous medicines, is the very agreeable Liquid Fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. Recommended by leading Physicians. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company. For sale in 50 cents and $1.00 bottles.

A BUSINESS MEETING.

The Council Closes All Business Houses on Sunday, Taxes Boarding Houses, Removes The Shanties and Discusses Waterworks.

The Council met Tuesday afternoon in regular session, all of the members present. The following accounts were allowed:

Peter Postell, horse hire $ 6.00 Hopkinsville Coal & Coke Co. 6.25
J. E. Galtier, coal oil 10.00 Gas Company, gas 10.00 Pay roll street work 48.42
" " " " 12.45
" " " " 20.75
Fire company, for January 50.00 Rev. A. C. Biddle appeared and asked that a street lamp be placed at or near the C. P. Church. After discussion the request was granted.

The committee appointed to examine the accounts and funds of the City Treasurer, reported that all had been found correct and the report was received.

Upon motion of Mr. Campbell, H.
R. Little was allowed $250 as Clerk and $350 as Auditor and Treasurer ($600) for the year 1888. That officer stated that the 1 1/2 per cent. allowed by the city made the amount due him something over $700 and suggested that $600 would be enough, whereupon his salaries were fixed at that amount. His official bond for the year 1889 was also submitted and approved by the Board.

The Chief of Police submitted his monthly report for January, heretofore published in the KENTUCKIAN.
His official bond was also approved.

The Commercial Club's ordinance proposing to exempt all new manufacturing enterprises from taxation for 5 years was laid over for future consideration.

The question of Waterworks was brought up and after discussion, a committee with Mr. Forbes chairman appointed to investigate the matter thoroughly and report at the March meeting.

The bids of parties proposing to break rock for metalling the streets were taken up, but action postponed.

The protests of a number of the occupants of the shanties on Sixth street were received and the question of removing these and all such inside the fire limits was discussed at length. The result was that a motion was passed instructing the police to remove by March 1st, all shanties, sheds, tents or other such temporary buildings on the principal streets of the city.

The sheds on Railroad street, between Ninth and Tenth, were ordered to be cut back as directed by the Railroad.

A committee was appointed to maintain and otherwise repair the present council chamber and make such other repairs on city buildings as deemed necessary.

The Chief of Police asked for definite instructions about closing business houses on Sunday. A petition from a committee of ministers was also read asking that all business houses be closed on Sunday. The matter was discussed and the Chief was instructed by ordinance to close all drug stores (except for the sale of medicine), confectioneries (except as licensees), newstands, meat shops, cigar and tobacco stands and all other business houses of whatever description.

A resolution declaring that all boarding houses receiving transient custom be required to pay hotel license was adopted and the license for hotels reduced from $25 to $15 per annum.

At 5 o'clock the council was ready to go into the election of a tax collector, but owing to the lateness of the hour it was postponed until a special meeting to be held at 3 P. M. to-day.

The Deadlock Still Unbroken.

The Tobacco Board of Trade met again Wednesday and took fourteen ineffectual ballots in the effort to elect two more inspectors. The Electoral Board was composed of twelve members, six Warehousemen and six Buyers, viz: Warehousemen—W. G.
Wheeler, Nat. Galtier, W. E. Ragsdale, H. H. Abernathy, T. C. Han-bury and M. H. Nelson. Buyers—C. F. Jarrett, W. A. Lowry, Jack Crouch, R. R. Lloyd, R. R. Donaldson and M. D. Boales.

It requires a two-thirds vote to elect. There were in all fourteen candidates for the two vacant places, the four leading ones being G. V.
Green, J. H. Winfree, R. B. Withers, and J. C. Boxley. Messrs. A. B.
Long, Jno. M. Dulin, A. T. Wimberley, and Hayden also developed considerable strength, but none of the candidates received the necessary 8 votes and after 14 ballots the Board adjourned till next Wednesday the 13th inst.

Irwin's Lecture.

Speaking of Hon. H. S. Irwin's lecture on "Wise and Otherwise" the Louisville Post says: "The discourse is replete with things both grave and gay, which are instructive and amusing. The speaker drew on a large fund of anecdotes for appropriate illustrations to his points, and these enlivened the lecture to a pleasurable degree. Capt. Irwin is a flowery speaker, and held the attention of his audience throughout."

This lecture will be delivered here on the 18th, at one of the churches.
Admission 25 cents.

Dr. T. W. Forshee.

The celebrated specialist and senior physician and surgeon of the Coffee Medical and Surgical Institute of Louisville, Ky., will be at the Hopkinsville Hotel Saturday, Feb. 9th, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and will continue his visit once a month this year. Consultation free. Those who are suffering from chronic diseases should consult him at his next visit. See his advertisement for particulars. Come early, his rooms are generally crowded. Homestead date, one day only.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Published by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.
Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2,837 hds., with receipts for the same period of 1,773 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 11,739 hds.
Sales of the crop of 1888 to date amount to 13,311 hds.

The offerings of dark tobacco for the week have not been large and prices have been fully sustained on long tobacco, but lugs and short leaf have been irregular with a weakening tendency. There is not much disposition to hurry the crop forward in the present condition of the market and it is likely that the offerings of dark tobacco will not be large for some time yet. The following quotations fairly represent our market for dark tobacco, old and new:

Trash $1.00 to 2.00.
Common to medium lugs $2.00 to 2.75.
Dark rich lugs extra quality $2.75 to 3.75.
Common leaf $3.50 to 4.50.
M. dum to good leaf $4.50 to 5.50.
Good leaf extra length $5.50 to 7.50.

Temperance Speaking.

Luther Benson will begin a series of lectures in this county, on Temperance, next week, as follows:

Vanhook's Chapel, Saturday night, Feb. 9.
Pembroke, Sunday night, Feb. 10.
Salem, Monday night, Feb. 11.
Lafayette, Wednesday night, Feb. 13.
Poe Deo, Thursday night, Feb. 14.
Bellevue (Shiloh church), Friday night, Feb. 15.
Bainbridge, Saturday night, Feb. 16.
Scot's Mill, Sunday night, Feb. 17.
Hamby, Monday night, Feb. 23.
Hopkinsville, Tuesday night, Feb. 19.
Speaking to begin at 7:30 p. m.
These will be Free Lectures, and all, especially the ladies, are invited to come out and hear him.
Mr. Benson is a lecturer of national fame and comes with the very highest recommendations.

A Card of Thanks.

To the City Council of Hopkinsville: GENTLEMEN:—We, the ministers of Hopkinsville, and vicinity, desire to express our appreciation of your efforts to enforce law and promote order in this city. We are especially gratified at the steps taken towards enforcing the Sunday law; and beg to assure the Council of our hearty sympathy and support in their determination to have all places of business closed on the Lord's day.
